

3 Mile Sharpshooters 4-H Club Provide Needed Help

On Friday, March 12 at High Lakes Shooting Range the 4-H 3 Mile Sharpshooter club volunteers, including kids to family members, provided help that involved picking up 7,000 clay targets in front of five trap houses. The clays can be reused instead of being left in the field, said Marc Rohberg, 4-H leader. A few of the helpers and targets are shown above. According to Marc, targets were stacked up in the field and were still being picked up. The picture shows the bed of a Polaris 4x4 completely full.

4-H is America's largest youth development organization empowering nearly six million young people with the skills to lead for a life time. To learn more about 4-H contact Marc or your local county extension office for more information. High Lakes Outdoor Alliance is proud to support 3 Mile Sharpshooters 4-H club because we believe in the power of young people to improve the world around us.
